GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, August 24.—From the mass of the details of the condition and promise of the growing grain crops recently published, it seems to be the general impression that the continuance of the late dry and cold weather has been of immense service to the country. Much corn has already been gathered, and another fortnight like the past and the crisis of the harvest will be over. The copious rains which fell some time ago, though they delayed, did not damage the corn. This favorable change in the weather stopped an advance in corn, but great fluctuation is still expected, as the crops throughout Europe, with the exception of the interior of Russia, promise to be light.

Rear Admiral Chads has been appointed to the command of the English Pacific squadron.

The Telegraph, Liberal, in an editorial to-day, says if Cuba severed her connection with Spain it would only be to form a new bond with the United States. England would feel no jealousy at aggrandizement which would complete the abolition of slavery as an institution.

The steamer City of Rio De Janeiro has arrived here. She brought from Montevideo nineteen live oxen as an experiment, which proved successful. A steamer is now building here for this trade exclusively. She will sail in about six weeks, and others will follow. The postal service with Rio Janeiro has been extended. Hereafter there will be four mails monthly instead of two.

S. Hulley has been chosen to preside over the meeting of British Associations of Science next year in Liverpool.

The Harvard four were out this forenoon in Elliot's boat, which was weighted up to the standard of the Burnham boat. They were steered this time by a stranger. The performance of the new boat was satisfactory. It is thought the crew is more formidable in this boat than in anyother craft which they have tried. They started with thirty-eight strokes per minute, and went to Hammersmith bridge and back. In the evening the Harvard and Oxford crews both rowed over the entire course from Putney to Mortlake, the latter making the distance in thirteen seconds less than the Harvard. The opinion is generally entertained by the Englishmen that the Oxford must win, but the appearance of the crews hardly warrants the assertion that either is superior to the other. The result will mainly depend upon the skill of the coxwain and his knowledge of the course. If the boats are well steered from the soap works through Hammersmith bridge and past Aile Island and then well together, the result will depend entirely on muscular force. The betting is two to one on the Oxfords.

The Senate will meet to-morrow to hear the report of the Committee on Senatus Consultum.

The late American Minister in South America, General McMahon, from Paraguay, and Dr. Worthington, of Buenos Ayres, are expected here on their way to the United States. It is reported that when Minister McMahon approached the line of the Allies on his return from Lopez's headquarters, he was badly received by the Brazilians. His escort, bearing a white flag, was attacked by some cavalry, although Count D'Eu had notified the army of the expected arrival of the Minister. The reported pillaging of the American Legation, at Ascension, is confirmed.

SPAIN.

The Republicans have petitioned the Government for better food and better quarters for the Carlist prisoners.

Fire—The Water Famine—The Manayunk Paper Mills.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, August 24.—At two o'clock this afternoon a fire broke out in the large building, corner Ninth and Wallace streets, occupied by eight or ten different manufactories. There was no water on the spot and a probability of a large fire.

Owing to the stoppage of the paper mills at Manayunk, which were run by water, the price of paper has advanced 2½c. and 3c. per pound. Some of the manufacturers are arranging to put in steam engines. These mills made fifteen tons of paper daily.

PHILADELPHIA, August 24.—At two o'clock this afternoon a fire broke out in a large four story brick building on the north-west corner of Ninth and Wallace streets, used for manufacturing purposes, which, in a short time, was completely destroyed. The building was worth $50,000 and insured for most its value. The occupants, D. & W. King, woolen and yarn manufacturers, have an insurance of $11,000, which covers their loss. J. & J. Stead, in the same business, loss $8,000; insurance $2,300. J. O. Mead & Co., silverware manufacturers, suffer a heavy loss. Four private dwellings were burned. The total loss will probably reach $100,000.

Henry A. Soria, of New Orleans, who was arrested here last week charged with shipping foreign sugar upon which no duty had been paid, was examined today before U. S. Commissioner Eaton, and his bond fixed at $50,000. An officer from New Orleans has arrived with a warrant for his arrest and he will probably be taken there for trial.

Another hot day. Thermometer stood 97 this afternoon. There is a strong breeze. This evening, however, there are indications of a storm from the north, which will doubtless break the intense heat which has prevailed for some days past. Several more deaths occurred to-day from the effects of heat and whisky.

GETTYSBURG.

The Re-union of Army Officers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GETTYSBURG, August 24.—At a meeting of the officers this morning, Colonel Bachelder was invited, on motion of Gen. Meredith, to take charge of the exercises of the day. The party then repaired to the field for the purpose of definitely fixing the position of the troops in the first day's battle. Many interesting incidents of the contest were related as the party passed from point to point. The principal points of the field, roads by which the opposing troops advanced and retired, and the places where prominent officers fell, were studied. The work to-day was confined to the ground covered by the troops in the first day's fight, including Seminary Ridge. The examination was conducted in a spirit of fairness, the desire being to settle the controverted points. In the afternoon the positions of the Eleventh Corps in the first day's engagement were determined.

A large number arrived this morning, including many officers of the First, Second, Third, Sixth and Twelfth Corps. To-morrow Culp's Hill, Cemetery Hill and vicinity will be visited. On Wednesday evening there will be a ball in honor of the military and invited guests.

Massachusetts Democratic Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WORCESTER, August 24.—The Massachusetts Democratic State Convention met to day, Hon. Chas. Levi Woodbury presiding, who in his remarks advocated the immediate freedom of the Canadas and Cuba from their European subjection, looking to their ultimate annexation to the United States. John Quincy Adams nominated for Governor, and S.O. Lamb, of Greenfield, for Lieutenant Governor. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the pronibitory law, condemning the Legislature for not granting charters to certain labor organizations, recognizing the duties of acquiescing in the resolutions already arrived at in national affairs, &c. The Convention was, in the main, harmonious.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 24, 1869.

The Erie and Susquehanna litigation made its reappearance in the Supreme Court to day before Justice Barnard, on a motion to punish Messrs. Ramsey, Van Valkenberg and Pruyn for contempt in violating an injunction of the Court restraining them from interfering with the management of the Road, after the appointment of a receiver by Justice Barnard. Messrs. Valkenburg and Ramsey were examined relative to the transactions of the Board of Directors since the injunction, and also as to the disposition of the books of the Company, which are still carefully concealed, the only important information elicited being that the books are still in Albany and not in the custody of Pruyn. The case was then adjourned over.

The first bale of new State hops was on the market to-day.

Preparations for the Ecumenical Council of Rome.

ROME, Italy, August 5, 1869.

The only cool place in Rome is St. Peter's, where the workmen are very busy erecting a building within the great transept for the Ecumenical Council. It is, in fact, a hall, with its rows of seats, its aisles and its boxes, vast enough for the purpose, and yet invisible from many parts of the great building. A partition reaches to the spring of the arches, and a platform which covers the whole of the inside is elevated eight steps above the pavement. On this is a semi circle of two wings, formed by the seats for the cardinals. The throne is in the center, raised considerably above the platform. On the other side of the cardinals' chairs are seven rows of seats, designed for the other members of the clergy—the bishops, archbishops, monsignori, &c.

Each member of the Council is furnished with a prie dieu, which can, at will, be converted into a writing desk. Lower seats will be provided for secretaries, and other persons whom the Pope may require to be present. For theological students, reporters and others, a gallery will be raised. An altar will be so erected as to be visible from every seat, together with a tribune for the use of the speakers. The whole building will be richly decorated with tapestry and other hangings, frescoes and rich ornamentation. No seats are provided in the present plan for the representatives of the Catholic powers.

The question of questions which is agitated in Europe at the present moment, is this one of the approaching Council. Germany, especially, puts herself almost uniformly in an attitude of hostility to the ultramontane party. There is but one dogma which that party wish to enforce, that gives no trouble anywhere. It is that of the Assumption of the Virgin. But against the syllabus, against the infallibility of the Pope, there is almost a universal cry of opposition.—Cor. N. Y. Evening Post.

DURING the eclipse at Council Bluffs, Iowa, where it was almost total, a County Democratic Nominating Convention was in session. When surrounding objects commenced to darken, not a little disgust and anxiety was manifested at the unexpected and unpleasant intrusion, and an ardent "wheel horse" of the Iowa Democracy offered a resolution denouncing it as clearly unconstitutional, and an unwarranted outrage upon a free people, perpetrated by the tyranical government at Washington. It is needless to say that the resolution was unanimously adopted.

—The completion of the Leavenworth, Acheson and North Western Railroad will be celebrated at Leavenworth, Kansas, on the 4th proximo.

BLOOMER GIRLS IN WISCONSIN.

In our ramble "Up the Chippewa," in Northern Wisconsin, a few days ago, we chanced upon a husky, brown-faced girl plowing out a twenty acre corn field. She was rigged in a snuff colored "bloomer," with a straw hat, and good, honest number seven boots. She had been in the field since early morning, taking long strides behind a spirited horse, with the lines thrown across her shoulder, and both hands firmly at the plow. It was just "good fun," she said, to take care of 20 acres, and away she strode through the long rows—turning corners, kicking over sods, and never a thought of rest or "whoa," till the dinner horn sounded across the field. On inquiry, we learned that our corn-field heroine was one of two New Hampshire girls, who imigrated with their parents to Eau Claire some dozen years ago. They bargained for a quarter section of wild land, and set about making a farm. There were no boys in the family, The girls were young, bright, healthy, and full of pluck and vigor. Their mother dressed them in bloomers, and gave them their choice, indoors or out. From the start, they took the place of boys; they were not afraid of dust or sunshine; they never complained; they never tired out; they seldom missed a day from the fields through all the seasons, from earliest spring to latest autumn. As they grew older, they grew tough and wiry, and were alike ready at handling teams, breaking colts, building bridges, opening roads, fording creeks, clearing meadows, loading hay, binding grain, or mounting a straw stack. In good seasons they cut eighty tons of hay and eighty acres of grain. In rainy seasons they had to bring out their hay "by hand," carrying it on poles, knee deep through sloughs and marshes. In winter they attended school and took care of sixty head of cattle, drawing hay from the swamps in the coldest weather. They hired no help except at harvesting. They did their own trading and marketing, and could never be outwitted by any of the store chaps at Eau Claire. The girls are now 18 and 20 years of age, and have done more farm work than any two boys in the county. Their father, beginning with nothing, is now rich, with broad fields, and thousands of ready stamps, mostly achieved through the grit and energy of his daughters. During the present season the girls have "let up" a little on their out door accomplishments, and are only cultivating twenty acres of corn for their own amusement. They have built them a spacious residence. They attend balls and parties, go trouting, drive their own teams, and occasionelly give the boys a chance to show their spunk and gallantry. Of course such girls are objects of excitement and interest in their neighborhood. They are looked upon as "capital prizes," and the young fellows are ready to break their necks for them. They are now right in their freshest bloom, with thoughts of love and romance, and what may seem strange, they are neither coarse nor masculine in appearance; they are simply round, trim, sprightly girls, with resolution in their eye and plenty of good sense in their heads. It may be interesting to female politicians to know that these Chippewa Valley girls never whine or declaim about their "rights" or "position." They saw rough work to be done—work the most needed in our Western country—and, asking odds from nobody, they went in bravely on their muscle and did it. They have made no noise about it. They have not cackled at Conventions. They have never sat with Miss Anthony or Lucy Stone Blackwell. They have fairly won a much higher seat among the queens of American Industry.—Evening Wisconsin.

THE FIRST CRICCET.

BY W. D. HOWELLS.

Ah me! is it then true that the year has waxed unto waning,
And that so soon must remain nothing but lapse and decay,—
Earliest cricket that out of the midsummer midnight complaining
All the faint Summer in me takest with subtle dismay?

Though thou bringest no dream of frost to the flowers that slumber,
Though no tree for its leaves, doomed of thy voice, maketh moan;
With the unconscious earth's boded evil my soul
thou dost cumber,
And in the year's last youth makest me still lose my own.

Answerest thou, that when nights of December
are blackest and bleakest,—
And when the fervid grate feigns me a May in my room,
And by my hearthstone gay, as now sad in thy garden, thou creakest,— Thou wilt again give me all,—dew and fragrance and bloom?

Nay, little poet! full many a cricket I have that is willing,
If I but take him down out of his place on my shelf,
Me blither lays to sing than the blithest known
to thy shrilling,
Full of the rapture of life, May, morn, hope,
and—himself!

Leaving me only the sadder; for never one of my singers
Lures back the bee to his feast, calls back the bird to his tree.
Hast thou no art can make me believe, while the summer yet lingers,
Better than bloom that has been red leaf and sere that must be?

Physical Training.

Dr. Nathan Allen, writing on Physical Culture in Amherst College, exhibits very favorable results from gymnastic exercises. He points out a decided improvement in the very countenance and general physique of students. This change is so marked as to attract the attention of casual observers. There has been a marked and beneficial change in the physical movements and carriage of students generally. The practice of gymnastics in concert is calculated to beget personal sympathy, cheerfulness and buoyancy of spirits. Methodical exercise, and a better knowledge of natural laws, have proved excellent correctives to various improper habits of student life, such as bodily indolence, irregular or excessive hours of study, want of attention to diet, sleep, &c. There has been a great improvement in the health of students compared with what it was ten or fifteen years ago. It is shown from a carefully kept register that the amount of sickness in college has diminisned more than a third in eight years. Leading to the same conclusion is the fact of the diminished sickness of every class each year from the date of entering college—there being three times as much sickness in the freshman class as in the Senior class.

A "Boy of the Period," five years old, in Wolcott, Ct., recently made up his mind to earn something, and offered his services to a farmer. The latter put him to work raking hay, at which occupation he continued all day, going home to his surprised parents in the evening with a silver dollar in his pocket.

Tom, the peripatetic negro pianist, seems to have at last got a rival in the going-it-blind-piano pounding business. A blind boy of Omaha, only ten years of age, has been discovered who plays upon that and other instruments with surprising proficiency, and has a wonderfully pure and strong voice.

SHODDY ARISTOCRACY.

[From the Long Branch Letter to Boston Post.]

The Branch is cosmopolitan, dashing, by no means select, given up to the worship of glitter and show, and sufficiently expensive to satisfy the most aspiring money spenders. On the doorposts of the principal hotel entrances you will see posted notices of large rewards for valuables lost from private rooms, "no questions asked;" and from the class of adventurers to whom that appeals, upward, including the flashy clerk on a vacation with paste studs in his tumbled shirt front, and the pawnbroker and family in borrowed diamonds from the shop safe, there is no caste in the bogus aristocracy of wealth which is not fully represented here. The most dashing turn-outs that show themselves in the afternoon cavalcade up and down Ocean avenue are simply advertisements, openly acknowledged as such by their owners. The monogram on the panel of one open barouche, resplendent in silk lining, good fixtures and undimmed varnish, is the same which we have seen heading a column advertisement in the newspapers. One four-in-hand advertises drugs; another, splendid grays, with unexceptionable appointments, tells the assembled world that its owner thinks he makes the best harnesses in the market and would like that fact to be understood. Bargain and sale are brought terribly close to recreation and amusement, get as far away from them as we can, and here they are forced upon a community equally greedy of business. The hotel parlors are no less show-cases, where beauty sits ticketed for the admiration of money, and anxious saleswomen urge the merits of their wares with all the subtle tricks of the trade. Few of the ladies bathe. It is not in the way of business. A languid stroll along the edge of the ever-pounding surf quite unnerves them, and they must seek relief in the more arduous, less refreshing, but more familiar duties of playing enchantress to something in pantaloons, with tuberose in button hole, in the drawing-room. Bathing dresses are unbecoming, and often too honest in their revelations. The presumptuous sea will sometimes dash the bloom from the cheek, and the soft whiteness from arm and neck. Better for success in this mart of fashion are the appliances of the toilet than the shroud of blue flannel, and the yellow flame of the gaslights than the bright glory of the sun on the waves. Poor things! The market is dull. They may smile as lightly and chatter such naive nonesense as they please; they may take every hint of experienced mamma, and carry out her shrewd tactics, with the most fascinating genius; but the yellow-haired Aspasia, from whose pretty basket phaeton they turn away their very proper eyes when they pass her on the Avenue, can count thirty conquests to their one and can win away any admirer with one beck of her jewelled fore finger. Maternal shoddy in diamonds is all elegance and smiles, wary of opening her mouth except for stuffed praises. Fillal shoddy in pearls and low corsage is gentleness itself, leaning with effusion upon the shoulder of young Wall street in the waltz. Many is the net of sweet entanglements spread for the youth of strong balance at the bank, and so seldom does the game condescend to be captured that one's pity is all for the sportswomen. If they will make such vast exertions to secure such specimens of fashionable manhood as frequent the Branch, it is truly sad that better success attends their efforts. Meantime the wear and worry of the season, evidences of which are seen each succeeding morning in dimmed eyes and half-concealed yawns as the monotonous day drags on, will be felt, and next year and the year after will see them more poorly equipped for the summer's campaign, until they join the forlorn hopes which lead each ball, clad in fictitious youthful charms, but still seeking to conquer in diamonds and the elegancies of the modiste's art.

Monequa Medicinal Spring.

For twenty years past there has existed a spring of wonderful medicinal virtue on the line of the Northern Central Railway, a little less than two miles north from the borough of Canton, Bradford county, Pa. A new railway station has been established there, and the name of an Indian chief, Monequa, given to it. Ever since the discovery of the spring it has had little more than a local reputation, though the cures of rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofula and various diseases of the skin and kidneys its waters have effected are numerous and remarkable. The spring and adjacent grounds have recently been purchased by Peter Herdic, Esq., of Williamsport, and he has now nearly ready for occupancy a large hotel building, within a few feet of the railroad station, at which the cars will stop when all is finished. Here invalids can repair and enjoy a quiet home, while partaking of the invigorating waters of Monequa.

But the great attraction will be the healing properties of the waters, which patrons of the Herdic House, Williamsport, will have free use of, as well as those stopping at Monequa. Probably no better idea of the curative properties of the water could be given than the following analysis of one gallon of water made by Dr. Gregg, of Elmyra, N. Y.:

Chloride of sodium, 1,0305; chloride of potassium, trace; carbonate of soda, 1,0914; carbonate of lime, 1,7274; carbonate of Magnesia, 1,2729; oxide of iron and alumni, 3,6976: sulphate of lime, 1849; sulphur, 1,3386: organic matter, 8484; carbonic acid, 1,6973. This spring discharges two hundred gallons of water per hour, which contains one quarter volume of sulphurated hydrogen, or fifty gallons.

Elihu Burritt, the learned blacksmith, for the last eight years Consul at Birmingham, England, has established in that city an agency to facilitate the settlement in the United States of English farmers, mechanics and laborers of all occupations, and to assist farmers and farmers' sons who desire to try their fortunes here, to purchase lands in good situations and on favorable and honest terms. He also proposes to supply all who desire them competent and trustworthy English servants, guarantees being given and received "that confidence may be mutual." Mr. Burritt's friends state that he has given to his agency a mixture of that humanity and good-will with which his own life has been so highly favored, and that he will no doubt make his agency of good service to many on both sides of the Atlantic.

An exchange says that a "son of the last Whig President of the United States, and an ex-Confederate Brigadier General, lives in a dilapidated house in Washington, in a state of moral and physical degradation, supported by a poor colored woman."

DR. WHITTIER

CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.

A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.

It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August 24, 1869.

The refined oil market was considerably stronger to-day, and compared with yesterday prices ruled higher, while crude, on the other hand, although firmer, is no better. It has been rumored for some days that quite a number of refiners contemplated suspending operations until such time as prices of crude and refined would become more equalized, and after making some inquiry into the matter to-day, it would appear that there is someting in it, and it may be that this contemplated movement had something to do with the rather singular course of the market to-day. As already noted, refined advanced while crude remains unchanged; heretofore, an advance in the former was nearly always followed by a corresponding advance in the latter, and in nine cases out of ten, crude would appreciate more, relatively, than refined. It would appear, also, that a similar movement is projected among the Cleveland refiners, and already, it is stated, that three fourths of the refineries in that place are idle. Now the result of this movement, if it is carried out, it is thought, must lead to a better state of affairs to the trade at large, and if this proposed project will do this, it is just what has long been wanted, and the sooner it is carried into effect the better. It is well known that there has been little or no margin to the manufacturer at any time this year, and it has been worse in this respect during last month than any month preceding, and, as already intimated, this stopping of works is the only remedy that promises relief; and, besides, refiners, at least many of them, have concluded that they may as well be idle as to have their works in operation, and investing their money, with no prospect of any return.

REFINED.

Sales of 1,500 August at 32, which, compared with yesterday, shows an advance of ¾ to ¼. September to December, reported at 32½ bid and 32¾ asked, and it thought that a sale could have been was made at 32⅝. September, alone, quoted at 32¼.

RIVER NEWS.

The river rose several inches during Monday night and yesterday and last evening the metal mark indicated 27 inches. Weather continues oppressively hot—mercury 89 in shade, on Fifth avenue.

—The Jefferson was to have left Cincinnati for St. Louis yesterday.

—Capt. McComas is getting along finely with his new boat. He expects to be ready to raise steam about next Saturday.

—A dispatch from St. Louis reports were destroyed by fire at that place yesterday, two boats, Evening Star and War Eagle.

—The Caleb Webb has commenced running between Cairo and Tennessee river to bring out barges of lumber and stones, to be towed by other boats to St. Louis.

—Capt. Uriah Shinkle of Covington, Ky., has seized the steamer Charleston at Evansville, for barge hire. This boat is having a rough time of it among her creditors.

—Capt. Dan. Moore expects that the hull for his new steamer will be launched in ten days, and he expects to have her ready for business early in in November.

—Capt. A. H. Shaw, who accidentally broke his leg on the Arkansas, last Spring, has nearly recovered the use of it again, and will soon be able to dispense with his crutches.

—The river Nile, in Egypt, is lower than it has been known to be for one hundred and fifty years. The cotton crop of that country is expected to be 175,000 bales this season.

—Repairs are being made at Lock No. 2, and it is probable that it will be closed for a week or ten days. The Brownsville jolt oats are still running however, making connections at that point.

—Capt. D. S. H. Gilmore was expected home from St. Louis yesterday. Capt. Gilmore has been absent for some time looking after the Arkansas, of which boat he is now the principal owner.

—The Barranquilla must have gotten over Brunot sometime during Monday night, as she was met at Seven Mile Island, yesterday morning, by the little market boat Strodes. Capt. Stockdale will go to Cincinnati on her, and Capt. Dan Moore, will go as far as Madison.

—Lower Mississippi river pilots state that the worst places in the river this year will be at Montezuma, Helena crossing, Island 34, Hat Island, and Point Pleasant. The great trouble seems to between Memphis and Cairo promises to be as as between the latter place and St. Louis.

—An Evansville paper says: South Bend, Indiana, has a champion laugher, who claims that he can laugh louder, longer, heartier and more scientifically than any other man. He has never met Capt. Edwin Ryland, of the steamer Gov. Allen, who would laugh him out of countenance at the first interview.

—The Little Rock Republican, of Tuesday, says: Capt. Sam Houston, U. S. Inspector, is now on White river, and will be in our city Wednesday. We suppose his visit is an official one, looking after boats on this river. The notorious Capt. Sam. does not meet with a very warm reception by the rebels in Memphis. Sam. cares about as much for them as they do for a Radical. Wonder how Sam's appointment takes with Arkansas rebels? About as well as ther neighbors across the Mississippi.

—An Evansville special to the Cincinnati Commercial says: The Charleston, in the hands of the United States Marshal for the past two or three days, today got up steam to pump out, and after having performed that duty, she asked permission of the representative of the United States Marshal on board to back her stern up from against the wharfboat. Permission was granted, and in making the attempt her head line parted and she backed out into the river and started up stream. At the point above the city she set ashore the man that had been in charge, and he walked back to the city while the mercury was ranging at 96 deg. It was an adroit trick well executed.

Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.

For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fire in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or counties.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 133@133⅛.

TO MEET late improvements in the time-schedule between New York and Chicago, over the Pennsylvania route, it is said that a train is to be put on via Albany, Suspension Bridge and Detroit, which shall be still quicker by five hours.

THE Republicans in the northern counties of Pennsylvania have opened the political canvass auspiciously. In addition to other engagements pertaining distinctively to his official position, Gov. GEARY is announced to address Republican meetings at Troy on the 4th of September, at Towanda on the 6th and at Honesdale on the 9th. He will doubtless speak at other points while in that region.

THE German Democrats of Luzerne county decline to be controlled any longer by the Irish element of the party. On Thursday last they met at Wilkesbarre, representing forty election districts, and resolved to support the principles and the nominees of the Republicans. Pitching overboard the Packer ticket, they serve it as its distinguished lord was served, according to the Lehigh traditions, by some of his own ignorant workmen, who, years ago, soused him into the water.

THE STRIKE among the coal-miners of Luzerne, bids fair to continue for an indefinite period. The latest attempt to adjust difficulties was made on Saturday last, the operators offering a marked advance in the fixed wages. The offer was declined, the miners insisting on the basis, which, as we have already stated, will not be conceded in any event. The rates offered were the same as those paid by the Pennsylvania Coal Company, the only company now at work, and which we stated a day or two since.

THE DEMOCRATIC TRIUMPH IN TENNESSEE has its legitimate result in the reappearance of their "Ku-Klux" demonstrations. This form of exposition of Democratic politics was witnessed at Lebanon, on the 19th, when fifty disguised men visited the house of a lady who was teaching a colored school, menacing her with violence, and even striking her with their switches. The ball is opening again with the Southern Democracy. The rebel element is rampant throughout Tennessee, and threatens to do its worst. The demand for the disfranchisement of the colored voters is swelling, daily, in its clamorous violence. A small fraction of the opposition press deserve praise for resisting the mischievous movement, but these will be overborne and swept away by the tide of popular prejudice and partizan hate.

THE REPUBLICANS OF OHIO are opening a vigorous canvass. Not a day passes without the holding of one or more mass meetings, largely attended, and addressed by the most influential and effective orators of the party. The meeting at Alliance, last evening, had Judge BINGHAM for its principal speaker.

In all parts of the State, our friends are nominating the strongest tickets for the Legislature. In Cuyahoga, selections were made on Monday which that county will ratify with three thousand majority. There, as in all the districts of Ohio, it is manifestly the Republican purpose to fortify still more a strong State ticket with the most effective local considerations. Our friends are wisely on their guard against an opposition trick which won two years since,—making the fight ostensibly on the Governor, but keeping a Legislative majority always in view as the most important objective point. The Republicans of Ohio do not propose to be caught napping a second time. They will now secure all departments of the State government.

THE COMMISSIONERS of the Sinking Fund advertise for one million dollars of State bonds. This announcement is the best answer that can be given, and as good an one as can be desired, to the Democratic demand for a change in the political control of this Commonwealth. Notwithstanding all the clamor that has been raised, from time to time, about Republican extravagance and corruption, the public finances are steadily improving; the enormous debt fastened upon the tax-payers by successive Democratic administrations diminishes constantly; and in comparatively a few years, will be entirely wiped out.

In a matter of this sort, the people of Pennsylvania will be swayed by those considerations of prudence which they enforce in all departments of private enterprise. Where any set of agents, entrusted with important concerns, are doing well, it is regarded as folly to displace them and put others in their places who have done badly, or are altogether untried.

At Washington, as at Harrisburg, the financial burdens of the people, are so looked after as to be reduced. It is a homely maxim, but a sound one, to "let well enough alone."

OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN.

On Thursday, September 2nd, the people of this section of the commonwealth will be addressed, on political topics, by Senator MORTON, of Indiana, at a mass meeting to be held in this city. We are quite sure that a very large attendance will mark the great popular desire to hear the views of this distinguished orator and statesman, who stands to day among the foremost advocates of Republican opinions. Our Executive Committee will make such arrangements as will enable the speaker to be easily heard, by the largest audience which will be drawn together by his National reputation. It is not necessary to invite a full turn-out by the Republicans of Western Pennsylvania; that will be a matter of course. But we shall welcome, also, a large delegation from our friends in Ohio, for whom the great speech of the occasion will have an equal interest.

A FINANCIAL TRIFLE.

There is something refreshing, if not sublime, in the cool assurance with which some of our cotemporaries, of whom we may venture to remark that they seem to be profoundly devoted to the republicanization of Cuba, insist upon the duty of our government to promote that work, by lending its guarantee, to the trifling extent of fifty or a hundred millions of dollars, to the bonds which are to secure the liberation of that island from Spanish thraldom. If these journals, of which we speak, do, really in good faith, entertain the faintest shadow of confidence in the Cuban ability to redeem the principal, saying nothing of their punctuality in paying the semi-annual interest thereon, their simple generosity of trust in Cuban promises, and in the Cuban ability to perform, transcends any example of reliance upon public or private honor yet witnessed in human affairs. When the administration, or any member of either branch of Congress, for whose prudence, integrity and capacity for public affairs, the people are accustomed to feel the slightest regard, shall ever betray the first sign of real sympathy with this insane proposition, it will be time enough to discuss such merits as its friends may claim for it; until that moment shall arrive, the honest and practical intelligence of the American public will only regard this suggestion, for the guarantee of Cuban bonds, with the contempt which it seems to court.

THE INCOME TAX.

All taxes are unpopular. Most men who derive all the uses and advantages of a settled and orderly Government wish not to pay therefor. Of course it is not possible, in the nature of the case, that reluctant taxpayers should be gratified. But the income tax, in this country, seems to be more unpopular than any other. At all events, there is a vast amount of dishonesty, if not perjury, practiced in order to evade it, in whole or in part. In addition to the general objection that it takes money out of the pockets of individuals, and puts it into the National Treasury, it is alleged that this sort of tax compels an offensive scrutiny into private affairs. We are not prepared to admit the pertinency and force of this objection. No tax can be levied and collected except upon property or the means by which property is rightfully acquired, and the legal inquisition may as well take one form as another. Those men who pay on the heaviest incomes, make the least complaint, and for the sufficient reason that no tax is more equitable when uniformly enforced. It takes only from those who are able to pay, and precisely in proportion to their ability. This tax is upon surplus, and hence it is less objectionable than any other.

It yields somewhat less than fifty millions of dollars a year; but if it shall be abrogated, this sum will still be raised. How can it be procured easier or more justly than out of the abundance of the rich? Besides, it is manifest that if the wealthy shall not be required to pay in this form, they will not contribute proportionately towards the expenses of the government. To illustrate the point—A. T. STEWART has an income of three millions of dollars annually, and pays thereon five per cent., or one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This is no hardship; nor does he claim it to be. But, repeal the income tax, and he will contribute little if any more to defray the public charges than many men holding much smaller estates.

It may be found expedient, upon fuller consideration, to enlarge the amount of income excepted from taxation; but the effect of totally abrogated the tax, should be considered maturely, and from all stand points, before the measure shall be decided upon.

GREENSBURG NOTES.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

MONDAY, August 23, 1869.

Although not on the mountains, or located in a forest-grove, I find this by no means an indifferent place for sojourning during this heated term. The hotels are comfortable, and the society all that could be desired, while the atmosphere is pure and healthful, and the degree of heat much less than in your city. For a few days sojourn Greensburg, if not absolutely delightful, is quite an agreeable locality, and in the way of hotels first on the list is the Kettering House, which has been remodeled, greatly enlarged, and rendered in all respects first class, at an expense of some $40,000. Mr. Kettering, one of the proprietors, a native of of the town, is universally known as a prince among landlords, accommodating and agreeable to the last degree.

Among others we found enjoying the hospitalities of the house, and who is for the present a resident of Greensburg, was Dr. S. S. Christy, late of the Oil Regions, a most genial gentleman. He employs his leisure moments in occosional contributions to the press, and enjoys a literary reputation above mediocrity.

The Covode-Foster investigation draws its slow length along, and is seemingly devoid of interest to the general public. Evidence was being taken last week at Latrobe. So far "Honest John" seems to have the better of Gen. Foster, and the impression obtains that he will gain his point.

The people of Greensburg are specially favored in having S. S. Torney, Esq., an old editor and citizen, as Postmaster. He was formerly on the "other side" in politics, but having joined the ranks of the "War Democrats," did not see fit to return to a party which has nothing of principle left, existing only in name. He took charge of the postoffice not long since, and there can be no doubt that its affairs will be most faithfully administered by him.

The newspapers here seem to be flourishing about as usual. The Herald, Republican, remains under the guidance of Mr. D. W. Shryock, and creditably maintains its standing. The Democrat, Keenan & Clark proprietors, seems in thrifty condition, as also does the old Argus, edited by John M. Laird, these two latter establishments furnishing the Democratic thunder in Westmoreland.

In the way of improvement there has been a start made recently, in refutation of the assertion that the town is about "finished." H. P. Laird, Esq., is putting up a very fine residence, pressed brick front, on the Main street, and buildings are also going up in different parts of the town. The "Laird House," a new and very fine building, is a recent erection, and presents quite a fine appearance. The "McQuaid House," Republican headquarters, looks much the same as it did twenty years ago, when Col. Rohrer kept it, and seems greatly in need of rubbing up, both inside and out.

The close of each week finds quite a number of city denizens here, who remain over Sunday, and thus enjoy for a brief spell pure air, good w—ater, and hospitality of the genuine kind, such as Westmorelanders know how to extend.

Yours, H.

Humble Life in England.

Millions of people in England live almost entirely on baker's bread. Here, for example, is the way of life of a sober, hard-working man, who earns 18s. a week, (say $4.50 gold standard,) and has a wife and six children. He neither drinks nor smokes, and hands over his whole wages to his wife. This is a common practice in well-ordered families. She pays 4s. a week for rent; 1s. for coals; candles, soap, &c., 9d.; a penny a week each for the six children to a burial club, 6d.; on a doctor's bill due, 1s. Here are 7s. 3d. of the 18s. gone and nothing to eat. Now the bill of fare for those eight persons: One pound of bread a day for each—the children scarcely taste anything else—comes to 7s. a week; twenty pounds of potatoes, 8d.; one pound butcher's meat on Sunday and two pounds of salt pork for week days, 2s.; one pound sugar, half pound butter, one ounce tea, 13d., make up the week's account. No milk, no fruit, no clothing. The only way they can have that is for the children to get work or to die, then something would come in from the burial club. Thousands on thousands of men work for two-thirds these wages or less. Plenty, even in large towns, work for 12s. a week. Thousands cannot taste even the Sunday meat dinner. Great numbers never taste butter; they get a little dripping as a substitute. In a London shop on a Saturday night, you see great heaps of penny and half-penny packets of tea, and penny worths of brown sugar ready done up for "people of moderate incomes." I once had a curiosity to buy a half-penny packet of tea—a cent's worth. It resembled musty clover hay, and a decoction tasted as you might fancy the drippings from a heap of dead leaves to taste at the end of a hard winter.

C. R. KELLOG, an Illinois wool-grower, has decided to transfer his business to Tennessee. He will take with him 2,300 sheep.

More Light.

There is a singular expectation prevailing, throughout the world of thoughtful men, that some memorable scientific discovery is at hand, which will contribute largely to the comfort and well-being of mankind. Such impression has more than once been the prelude to a splendid achievement, and the general expectation may be significant of a pressing need which will command its own satisfaction.

The special aim now held in view by so many, we need scarcely say, is a method of furnishing cheap and abundant light and heat; and even men of science are often sanguine enough to predict that within a few years the oil, gas and fuel now so familiar in our homes will largely give place to something more easy to produce and far more efficient.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science is in session at Salem, to-day, and a paper is be read upon "Flame Temperatures in their Relations to Compositions and Luminosity," prepared by the well-known chemists, Messrs. Silliman and Wurtz, and understood to embody many of the results they have reached in their researches into our sources of artificial light. It is already known that these two gentlemen have been engaged for many months in a series of investigations, with the view of finding some cheap and common substitute for coal, water being the principal substance looked to. It is claimed that they have already succeeded in obtaining oxygen in large amounts from water by a far easier and cheaper process than any before known. Cheap oxygen means a cheap light, the most brilliant which artificial means can make; and if their discovery proves to be practicable on a large scale, we may hope soon to have at least the streets of great cities brightly illuminated at night, at a low cost.

At first sight, it appears that the successful analysis of water, for common use, is impossible. Water consists of the two gases, oxygen and hydrogen, in close union, the energy with which these elements seize upon each other in combustion being peculiarly intense. Now to separate two elements in combination, it is necessary to find a third which has a greater affinity for one of them than the other has; that is to say, it requires a greater force to sever them than that which holds them together. But if we have the greater force already, why use it to obtain a less one? For the force which holds the gases is precisely equal to that which is developed again by their union; and fire and light are only forms of force. This argument is not quite conclusive, however; it might have been applied ten years ago with still more plausibility to the production of such metals as sodium, magnesium, and especially aluminum, which are now obtained in large quantities at a low cost; the last of them at a very small part of the cost then supposed to be unavoidable.

Mr. Silliman is well known to the country. Mr. Wurtz, his associate in these researches, if less known, has in a high degree the confidence of practical scientific men. He is the original discoverer of the fact that a very small proportion of sodium in the mercury used for collecting gold from the ore, intensifies its amalgamating energy, and largely increases the product. Although this important improvement has been stolen in all ways, the profit of it taken here by using the "sodium amalgam" without respect to his patent, and the honor of it misdirected in Europe, by the neglect of such respectable writers as Mr. Crookes to acknowledge the American's priority, yet it is well known here that Mr. Wurtz announced the discovery in New York long before it was known to British chemists or to practical miners. The names of these gentlemen will attract general attention to any discovery in the art of producing light which they may vouch for as a real contribution to civilization.—N. Y. Post.

Dr. Parish's Inebriate Asylum.

In combatting that terrific vice, intemperance, which, worse than war or pestilence, threatens the destruction of our young generation, Dr. Parish has wisely accepted the teaching of all experience, and starts with the fundamental principle that, as cures for inebriety, all cruelty, personal correction, physical violence, harsh treatment of whatever kind, are not only useless in themselves, but in the vast majority of cases they absolutely tend to increase and aggravate the very propensity they were intended to correct. He recognizes the much ignored fact, that the only effective mentor to sermonize an inebriate should be found in the awakened conscience of that inebriate himself, roused to a sense of his own degredation and spurred by a determination to recover his own lost manliness; and that the only effective asylum for such an individual is one to which he comes voluntarily, seeking assistance to work out his own reformation. Now this is just exactly what Dr. Parish's institution is intended for—to extend to fallen humanity a supporting crutch, not a belaboring cudgel. The doctor has gallantly developed this theory in the face of manifold opposition, with what success I leave the reader to determine.

"My establishment," he exclaimed, emphatically, "is no prison, no insane asylum; my young men are free to go where they please and when they please; nor do I wish them to feel under any restraint, except such as may be self-imposed by their own desire to benefit themselves and gratify me. If they wish to leave me they are free to do so. I will not act the ignominious part of tunrkey. While they stay with me I trust to their honor that they will not infringe any of my regulations.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Invisible Light.

A photograph of the famous bronze statute of the Amazon, at Berlin, was taken some years ago with some unaccountable markings. From the tip of the lance, which is held by the figure perpendicularly, a black streak was noticed extending upwards, two other similar streaks projecting from prominent points. The picture was sent to Professor Dove, well-known from his investigations in connection with light, and after examination, the Professor gave it as his opinion that the markings were due to discharges of electricity from these points, which, though invisible to the naked eye, were of such active power as to produce a photographic effect. More extended observations and subsequent experiments have fully confirmed this hypothesis, and he now announces the fact that the flow of electricity, which is continuously given off from metalic points under certain circumstances, exerts a photographic effect on a sensitized plate, though the light can not be seen by the human eye.

Is Marriage in Danger?

The growing laxity of the marriage tie and the ease with which divorces are now obtained in nearly every State in the Union, have called out, on the one side, such men as President Woolsey to declaim against the dangers which threaten this social relation, and, on the other side, there is now a regular school of writers and religionists who boldly announce their opposition to the marriage institution. The small beginning of Nichols, who wrote a novel advocating free-love, has at last culminated in an established literature devoted to that end. As might be expected, Chicago is the seat of this new school of writers, and Chicago publishes and supports a large weekly journal avowedly devoted to the abolition of marriage and the substitution of the largest license. The contributors to the journal are generally women, some of whom sign only their initials to their contributions, while others boldly annex their names, maiden or marital, to the ideas they advance or advocate. The West is also producing a series of novels written by such women as Mrs. J. S. Adams and Mrs. Caroline Fairchild Corbin, covering with the thin disguise of a story a pronounced advocacy of the free-love doctrine. One of the writers in the anti-marriage organ to which we refer says in a recent issue: "There is scarcely anything left now but the name of marriage, so loose is the system of divorce becoming, when parties are left as free to unmarry as to marry, and that point is almost reached. The old idea of marriage is dead past hope of resurrection;" and this writer rejoices that it is so, because marriage "is contrary to the whole spirit of the age."

The supporters of the new organ and the new school of anti-marriage literature may be counted by the thousands at the West, and at the East even Mrs. Stanton has written a pamphlet which more than insinuates that the existing laws relating to marriage are necessarily bad, because they are wholly framed by men. The laws relating to divorce are every year and everywhere becoming more lax. The other day conservative South Carolina granted, at Charleston, the first divorce ever permitted in that State. The women's rights business is really an approach towards individualism and individual action in all things, in regard to the marriage relation with the rest. The positive advance the new and dangerous doctrine is making and the hold it is taking upon large masses of people is a matter of grave import to the future of this country, and the subject commends itself to the philosophers and preachers who are interested in our social progress.—N. Y. World.

Respect for the Sabbath.

[From the Albany Argus.]

A friend of ours, in Alabama, who is very proud of his old Scotch prefix "Mac," recently visited the land of his forefathers, and among other calls made one upon a Scotch cousin, an old gentleman of seventy-four, a clergyman of the Established Church (the Presbyterian), at Liberton, three miles from Edinburgh.

The minister invited his Yankee-Scotch cousin to dine with him the next day, which happened to be Sunday. Our modest friend, who knew from the traditions of his ancestors that their "Sabbaday" used to be kept in a very strict manner in Scotland, thought that his kinsman had forgotten the day in giving the invitation, and so intimated to him.

The old gentleman at once broke out: It's all right, mon; we are nae sa strict noo as we used to be. I mind weel, since, when I was far younger, awhile I was studying fo the ministry at ——, awa up in the Hieland, we war w'out a minister. Several cam along to preach on treaal, and aming ithars, one who preached a right guid ssrmon, that greatly pleased the people, as the deacons and elders told him when he cam doon from the pulpit. But one of them, a mon who was soor and crabbed, and always finding fault at somethin', said:

"Minister, ye hae a very clean face. How oft do ye shav?"

The minister replied: "Avry day."

"Did ye shav this morn?"

"Aye," said the minister.

The deacon shooked his head knowingly, and went among the people and said:

"This mon will nae do; he braks the Sabbaday—he shaved this morn."

And so he was not hired.

A bit after, anither minister came along, who, perhaps, had heard the story of the ither's failure; and he preached also and pleased the people right well; but when he cam doon from the pulpit, one of the elders said to him:

"Minister, do you think it right to gang into the pulpit of the Lord's house on a Sabbaday wi sae dirty a face as ye hae?"

The minister replied: "Aye, mon, I agree wi' ye. Me face is nae that clean all over as it should be; but last nicht I had barely finished me sarmon when I bethot me I was na shaved, and I jumped up and I got just sa far as ye see, when the clock struck twal, an' I stopped, for I wad na brak the Sabba-day."

This mon they hi red, for he respeck it the Sabba-day.

After this story our friend accepted the invitation, and dined well with his Scotch cousin, the clergyman.

A CONNECTICUT paper tells an anecdote of one of the substantial men of New Haven, who had been chosen to the deacon's office in one of the Congregational churches in that city about the time that the picture of Jephtha, now in the Yale art gallery, was the subject of general conversation. Two members of the church were discussing the new appointment, and one of them remarked that he feared Deacon B. did not know Scripture enough for a deacon. "Why," said he, "I'll prove it." The two proceeded to the store of the deacon, and asked him if he could tell him who was this Jephtha and his daughter that everybody was talking about? The good deacon suspended his work for few minutes, and after pondering the question for a little while, slowly answered, "Jephtha—let me see—yes—yes—Jephtha—why, he was—of course—yes, Jephtha—he was one of Napoleon's marshals.

A CHARLESTON paper says that in the upper part of South Carolina there is a young ex-Confederate soldier whose leg was amputated during the war, near the thigh. After amputation the wound rapidly healed, and he was sent home. About a year afterwards a fleshy protuberance was seen to grow out of the flesh, which, in the course of a few months, took the shape of a foot, and since that time it has been growing finely, until now the man has a perfectly new foot and leg growing from his thigh, which, in a year or so promises to supply the loss of his leg in the first instance.

CLIPPINGS.

THE heat is so intense in Memphis that it is melting off the composition roofs. Perhaps the roofs have not got the right pitch.

A SINGLE leaf of the Victoria Regia in the botanical garden at Ghent floated two hundred and sixty-four pounds of bricks that were piled upon it.

MR. PACKER was thrown into the Lehigh river in 1843 by Pennsylvania workmen. Three hundred thousand workingmen of Pennsylvania will throw him into the Salt river in October, 1869.

JOHNSON stock in the Senatorial race has evidently fallen within the past few days. The wily politician can hardly recover the ground he has lost. The sharp-sighted Conservatives feel that he would be a millstone round their necks, and few of the Old Whigs can endure him.

A MAN in Troy, Ohio, has deserted his wife and eloped with his mother-in-law. This is the first case of the kind on record. There was a noted elopement scandal at ancient Troy many years ago, but the Parisian gentleman didn't elope with his mother-in-law by a long sight.

CLEANING FILES.—A new method of cleansing files that have become filled up by use, consists in directing a jet of steam, of about forty pounds pressure to the square inch, upon the surface for a few minutes. In a very short time all impurities are removed so that the file is as clean as when new.

DR. J. P. CHESNEY gives a case, in the Leavenworth Medical Herald, occurring in his practice, where a child which died apparently during the process of birth was recovered by long continued artificial respiration, although in all an interval of two hours had intervened since its heart had ceased to beat. He believes that a similar effort should always be made to save stillborn children.

THE "great mass" of copper recently found in one of the Superior mines, has the following dimensions: Length 65 feet, height 32 feet, thickness about 2 feet, giving a total of 4,160 cubic feet. The purity of the mass is estimated at sixty-five per cent. This would give a total of 832 tons, making it by far the largest mass of copper ever found on Lake Superior, or in the world.

A BOY named Henry Goss, of South Wheelock, Vt., took refuge under a cock of hay during a thunder storm. Soon after a farm hand sought shelter under the same covering, and inserting his pitchfork to make an opening for that purpose, thrust it in the boy's back, grazing one of his ribs and passing within an eighth of an inch of his heart. The lad will probably recover, though it was a narrow escape.

LEW BENEDICT, of Duprez & Benedict's minstrels, it will be remembered, was promised his affianced, by her father, when he had amassed $50,000. Hence his resort to minstrelsy. On counting up the receipts at Philadelphia Tuesday evening, he found the last $100 in his possession, and immediately telegraphed the joyful intelligence to his intended father-in-law, claiming the fulfillment of the contract. He intends to cling to the profession until he has made enough to provide his bride a handsome trousseau.

LET US DISCUSS THE GREAT QUESTION.

What is the most important of all earthly blessings, in the estimation of every intelligent human being?

Clearly, it is HEALTH; for soundness of body and mind is essential to the enjoyment of all the other good gifts of Providence.

How, then, shall those who possess this inestimable treasure endeavor to preserve it, and how shall those who have lost it seek to relieve it?

These questions have been asked in all ages, but never have they been as satisfactorily responded to as at the present day, and the answers which common sense, enlightened by science and experience, gives to them in the Nineteenth Century may be briefly stated thus:

To protect the system against all influences that tend to generate disease, THERE IS NOTHING LIKE INVIGORATION.

To re-establish the health on a firm basis, when it has been lost by imprudence or any other cause, the system must be SIMULTANEOUSLY STRENGTHENED, REGULATED AND PURIFIED.

These ends can only be attained through the agency of a preparation which combines the attributes of a TONIC, a CORRECTIVE, a BLOOD DEPURENT, and an APERIENT.

All these essentials are effectually blended in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. They contain nothing drastic, irritating or inflammatory. The juices and extracts of sanative herbs, roots and barks are their sole medicinal ingredients, and these are rendered diffusible by combination with the spirituous essence of rye, the purest of all alcoholic stimulants.

The weak and feeble, and especially those suffering from biliousness, indigestion and nervousness, absolutely require the renovating aid of this powerful alterative during the heated term and cannot prudently postpone its use for a single day. A word to the wise is sufficient.

PACIFIC RAILWAY GOLD LOAN.

Messrs. DABNEY, MORGAN & CO., 53 Exchange Place, and M. K. JESUP & CO., 12 Pine Street, N. Y., offer for sale the Bonds of the Kansas Pacific Railway. These Bonds pay seven per cent. in Gold; have thirty years to run; are Free from Government Taxation; are secured by a Land Grant of Three Million Acres of the Finest Lands in Kansas and Colorado. In addition to this special grant the Company also owns Three Millions of Acres in Kansas, which are being rapidly sold to develop the country and improve the road. They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. There is no better security in the market—this being in some respects better than Government Securities. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD. Price 96, and accrued Interest, in Currency. FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August 24, 1869.

The fear of a tight money market seems to be the main cause of the dullness of the Government bonds, which are steadily declining, although gold advanced to-day sharply about one per cent. Up to the present time bonds kept pace with gold, following it in either direction, and so long as the Government is still purchasing—two millions to-day, and one million on Thursday, also one million of gold will be sold on Thursday and the interest for September be paid out on Monday next.

Stocks are steadily yielding, and a further decline is confidently expected in the absence of any element to sustain quotations. In our home market money is still easy, but from the fact that large amounts of stocks were thrown on the market, they command a ready sale.

There is more inquiry for the Pacific bonds at present low prices, and large amounts of Governments are exchanged for these securities. The Banking House of Ph. R. Mertz can give reliable information regarding these exchanges.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24, 1869.

Wall street to-day has been the scene of more activity and animation than for some time, and there has been lively speculative movements in the Stock Exchange and Gold Room. The "bears" of Stock Exchange opened the ball with a grand raid chiefly on Vanderbilt stocks, and the result was a general decline of 2 to 4 per cent., and a considerable amount of stocks were thrown overboard. The "bulls" finally came to the rescue, which, in connection with covering of the "bears," turned the tide of speculation and caused a partial recovery from the lowest point. Gold was also lively, and it is estimated that about $7,000,000 have been taken by the prominent "bulls" within the past few days at the low prices. Money easy at 5@7 per cent., closing at 6 per cent. The shipments of currency to the West are less than last week. Sterling steady at 9⅛@9¾ per cent. Gold active and strong; opened at 132⅝ and closed at 133@133⅛. Carrying rates 4 per cent. to flat. Clearances $142,000,000. Hammonia took $8 000.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August, 24 1869.

Business generally is quiet, though little better than it was last month, and fully as good as it usually is at this season of the year. There would be more activity in grain if it was not for the uncertainty in regard to prices, and this retards business and restricts operators, as operators generally are timid and seem disposed to hold off until the markets become more settled and prices more fully established. At the present time, the impression prevails that prices will rule lower, sooner or later, and the movement in most of the leading markets during the past few days are calculated to strengthen this feeling. Another drawback to the grain trade in this place, is the fact that producers in this section of country are demanding, in many cases, prices at home that can scarcely be realized here, so that the shipper has no margin, and it is not to be expected that he will invest his money and run the risk of the markets, with no prospect of even the smallest margin at the outset. The flour market is so very quiet that it does not deserve a passing notice.

APPLES—In good supply and but unchanged, $1,50@3 per bbl.

BERRIES—Sales of fresh Blackberries, in good condition, at 90 cents per pail, and Huckelberries at $5 per bbl.

BUTTER—There is no life in the article, and prices are unchanged; at 18@24, as to quality.

BROOMS—Quoted as follows: $6,50; No. 4 $6; No. 3 $5, No. 2, $4,50, and market firm.

CHEESE—In moderate local demand but there is a good supply and prices are unchanged.

CEMENT—Johnstown Hydraulic cement is quoted at $2,25 per bbl.

CARBON OIL—Still quoted at 27@28 for round lots, and 29@30 in a small way.

EGGS—Dull; sales at 15@16.

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—Continues very quiet and unchanged. Winter Wheat brands $7,00@7,50, and Springs $7.25@7,50 for choice, and $7,75 for fancy. The demand for the latter is light and confined entirely to bakers—consumers generally are now using Winter Wheat.

GRAIN—Wheat continues dull and weak, and as the mills are pretty well supplied, they are not buying very freely, and concessions would probably have to be made to effect sales: we now quote $1,35@1,40. Oats dull and drooping, and cannot be fairly quoted above 45@47 on track, and 50 in store—sales at 50@52 delivered. Rye, also, is lower and there is but few buyers at anything above $1,15. Corn is quiet but steady, and may be fairly quoted at $1,00@1,05 for mixed to strictly prime Yellow. Barley nominal at $1,25@1,30.

HIGHWINES—Are still quoted, in a jobbing way, at $1,23@1,25.

TALLOW—Rendered quoted at 10½.

WOOL MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August 24, 1869.

The market remains quiet at about previous quotations. Considerable purchases have been made in the surrounding counties the past week, of fine wools at 45 cents, and for choice clips in extra condition, a little higher has, in some cases, been paid. The fault with many buyers is a want of proper discrimination in not making the just and correct abatment on heavy wools. We growers demand of buyers that they shall discriminate, but when the buyer wishes to do this and pay for clean wool what it is worth, they also claim the right to buy the heavy and badly washed wools at the proper discount, and the rule ought to work both ways. With many wool growers we find no fault, they wash and carefully handle their wool; but with many the whole object is to grow big fleeces, and a half wash them, so they are no better than unwashed—put the best on the pile and tell you they know all clean and well handled, when they know entirely different, and at the same time have the unblushing effrontery to ask the highest market price. The best way to correct all this, is to pass such clips by, and if any buyer is verdant enough to buy them at full prices, let him learn by experience.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, August 24.—Dry Goods; the market is more active and prices rule firmly. The only change of importance is the advance of 1c on Pemberton A Bleached Canton Flannels, which now bring 27½c.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

Death of a Desperado—A Son's Vengeance.

As far back as 1842 flourished in Cincinnati a then young scoundrel of sixteen years, known as "the Knife" to those who knew of him and of his habit of invariably drawing a knife on anybody that happened to in any way offend him. His name was James Watson, but among the companions of his earlier days he was scarcely known by it, "the Knife" having taken its place ever since. When he was fourteen years of age, he had badly cut a younger playmate upon whom he had failed to force a cheating bargain. "The Knife" first became known to the ...ch as professionally dishonest when, ...845, he was caught, with two other ...liars, in the act of robbing a jewelry ...on the Landing. He managed to ...gle out of this case, shortly after ...n he left the city and went to Pitts...gh, Cleveland and Buffalo, and even ...rther East, committing many crimes, and almost invariably escaping detection.

In fact, it was not until he became well known to the authorities of Buffalo, and was at length detected in a steamboat robbery at that point, in 1850, that he was convicted and forced to serve five years. Returning to Buffalo in 1856, and thence to Cleveland and Chicago, Watson, in a drunken broil in a drinking saloon at the last named city, drew a knife upon Wm. Webb, the Captain of the schooner North Star, and cut him in such a manner that he died of his wounds. Watson escaped the immediate vengeance that even this crime should have brought upon him. In fact, his identity was not fully established, and the police had no clue along which to follow to his arrest. However, shortly after his father's death, the son, John Webb, a young man of twenty years, learned from one of Watson's former associates of Chicago who it was that had made him fatherless. Obtaining a minute description of his person, including a note of a scar across his forehead that could not be easily forgotten, he took every step in his power to have him brought to justice. But all efforts to ...end proved fruitless, as Watson had ...far South—to Texas it was supposed. ...he years that followed each other, Webb went to the bad, under the ...ices of Chicago life, becoming ...as desperate a character as his ...s murderer.

...en the war broke out he enlisted in ...nois regiment, and served several ... known always as a reckless, des...soldier, fighting bravely, but always ...ible on accounnt of his insubordina... When he was finally discharged ...nt West, and for several years led a ...ering life, until at Fort Benton, a ...weeks since, he met this Watson in a ...ambling saloon, recognized him, threw a glass of whisky into his face, and then very coolly shot him six times with a revolver, letting his life out through at least three mortal wounds. It appears that they were sitting side by side at a faro spread, both betting white chips on the same cards. Hearing Watson's name called by the dealer, Webb examined his face closely, and finding in it every mark of the old-time discription, introduced a conversation, and managed to learn from Watson that he was in Chicago in March of 1856, the time of the murder.

This settled it with Webb. He didn't wait for the evidence of witnesses, or think of appealing to law, a very scarce article in that part of the world. While taking a drink of whisky he carelessly took up some of Watson's chips, as if making a mistake in shifting a bet. Watson cursed the mistake and its author, announcing that those were his chips. Webb shifted the glass to his left hand and reckoned not, at the same time cocking a revolver in his pocket with his right. Watson jumped up and pulled his knife. Webb dashed the whisky into his face, blinded him for an instant, and then, as Watson came at him, commenced shooting, and without going into the heroics or even exclaiming "My father's murderer," proceeded to settle old scores. He then walked out of the saloon, and without much trouble made his escape.—Cincinnati Commercial.

How Lager Beer is Made.

Lager beer is a fermented liquor, made from malted grain—barley principally. Hops and other bitter flavoring matters are added to improve their taste and impart their peculiar properties, tonic or otherwise, to any liquor. Lager beer, properly made, if analyzed, will give about the following result: Water 91,80. malt, 4,65; alcohal, 3,44: carbonic acid, 0,11. The lager beer brewing season begins about the close of October, and ends about the first of April. In the manufacture of beer, the barley, wheat or other grain is selected with much care.

It is first subjected to the process called malting, which is effected in large cisterns, with a depth of six or seven inches above the surface of the grain. When the grain has become fully soaked, usually absorbing forty or fifty-five pounds to the hundred-weight of barley, it is taken out, allowed to drain for six or seven hours, and then spread upon the malt floor, where the next process of the operation is termed couching. Lying in beds twelve or sixteen inches in depth, the grain soon becomes moist through chemical changes, and germination commences.

When this has gone sufficiently far, which is shown by the grain becoming white and crumbly like meal, the process is changed and germination immediately arrested by the grain being spread on the floor of a malt kiln, and the temperature ...sed gradually from 90 to 140 degrees, ...ring the operation of drying, the malt ...ng frequently stirred. Then comes ... brewing process, which, like the first ..., embraces several different opera...s. The malt is first ground or ...shed to a coarse powder, which is at...ard shaken into large mash tubs, con...ng water at a temperature of a hun... degrees. More water is added and ...mperature carefully raised several ...s higher, after which the infusion ...n off.

...e water is then added to the crushed ...n the tub, drawn off, and added to ...t; still another wetting takes place ...he water at the boiling point. The process is the boiling, which is done ...acing the infusion in large copper ...els furnished with steam valves. ...uring the boiling operation the hops ...re introduced. Then, boiling over, the liquor is strained and allowed to cool, when it is placed in huge wooden vats, and yeast added. After having fermented long enough, the liquor is drawn off into huge receptacles and stored in high vaults, where it is allowed to remain for several months. This is called lagering.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Marriage Fee.

In Virginia, where the law fixes the marriage fee at $1, there is a reminiscence of a couple who many years ago called on a parson and requested him to marry them.

"Where is my fee?" said the functionary.

The parties who were to unite their fortunes did so at once and found the joint amount to be twenty-seven cents.

"I can't marry you for that sum," said the irate old gentleman.

"A little bit of service will go a long way," suggested the male applicant.

"Ah, no," said the parson, "you don't pay for the size of the pill, but for the good you hope it will do you."

The lass, intent on marriage, began to weep, but the parson was inexorable, and the couple turned sadly to depart. Just then a happy thought seemed to strike the forlorn maiden, and she turned and cried through her tears: "Please, sir, if you can't marry us full up, won't you marry us twenty-seven cents' worth; we can come for the rest some other time."

This was too much for the parson. He married them "full up," and they went on their way rejoicing.

Modern Reading Books.

The Detroit Free Press wants modern improvements worked into school reading-books, and offers the following as a sample of the sort that would be up to the spirit of the age:

"Here is a man. Here is a fireman. He belongs to No. 10. If you are a good boy, you will some day be an angel like that fireman. It is a dangerous thing to be a fireman. They sometimes get their heads broken.

"Do you see that small boy? He is a good boy and supports his mother by selling newspapers. His father don't have to work any more now.

"Here is the picture of a young widow. See how 'sad' she looks. Her husband could not pay her 'dry-goods' bill, and so he—died. Do you think she will get another man? She will try hard."

"Here is the face of a reporter. See how joyful he looks. He has just heard that a man has cut his own throat, and he is going for the item. Should you like to be a reporter, and get licked on dark nights, and see dead persons, and climb up four pairs of stairs?"

The "Grecian."

In one of his morbid turns of mind, when he could conjure up the most grotesque horrors, Edgar A. Poe had a vision of the Grecian bend. He puts the following words into the mouth of "Scherazade," in his tale of the "Thousand and Second Night," in the travels of "Sinbad, the Sailor." Says Scherazade to the King:

"One of the evil genii who are perpetual on the watch to inflict all [has put it into the heads of these accomplished ladies that the thing that we describe as personal beauty consists altogether in the region which lies not very far below the small of the back. Perfection of loveliness, they say, is in the direct ratio of the extent of this hump.

"Having been long possessed of this idea, and bolsters being cheap in that country, the days have long gone by since it was possible to distinguish a woman from a dromedary—"

"Stop," says the King, "I can't stand that, and I won't."

WHAT HE WANTED.—"Fellow-citizens," said a stump orator, "we have the best government in the world and the best country. No people on the face of the globe enjoys more privileges than we do. We have the liberty of the press without onerous despotism. What, fellow-citizens, is more desirable than this? Can you want anything more, my countrymen?"

"Yes, sirr-ee!" shouted a listener, "I want another suck out of that flask sticking out of your coat pocket behind!"

THERE is a gentleman in Bangor who is so absent minded that meeting his son on the street a day or two since, he extended his hand and inquired: "How do you do? When is your father coming home?" This equals an absent minded man in Worcester, who, on receiving a letter from his son, glanced at the signature and proceed to consult the directory to learn the personality of his correspondent.

A STORY is told of a soldier in the army whose only fault was that of drunkenness. His Colonel remonstrated with him:

"Tom, you are a bold fellow and a good soldier, but you get drunk."

"Colonel," replied Tom, "how can you expect all the virtues of human character combined for sixteen dollars a month."

"I WILL bet you a bottle of wine," said a gentleman to his friend, "that you will come down out of that chair before I ask you twice." "Done!" replied the friend. "Come down!" cried the other. "I will not," said his friend, with much obstinacy. "Then stop till I ask you a second time," said the other. Perceiving that he would never be asked a second time, the gentleman in the chair came down in a double sense.

A YOUNG wife remonstrated with her husband, a dissipated spendthrift, on his conduct.

"My love," said he, "I am only like the prodigal son—I shall reform by and by."

"And I will be like the prodigal son too," she replied," "for I will arise and go to my father;" and accordingly off she went.

THE lawyer who filed a bill, shaved a note, cut an acqnaintance, split a hair, made an entry, got up a case, framed an indictment, empanneled a jury, put them into a box, nailed a witness, hammered a judge, and bored a whole court, all in one day, has since laid down law, and turned carpenter.

A PERSON being seated at a table between two tailors, and thinking to be witty upon them, said, "How pretty I am fixed between two tailors," upon which one of them replied, that being only new beginners in business, they could not afford to keep more than one goose between them.

WE MAY seek costly furniture for our home, fanciful ornaments for our mantelpiece and rich carpets for our floors, but, after the absolute necessaries for a home, books are at once the cheapest and certainly the most useful and abiding embellishments.

THE strongest man has just been heard from. He was lecturing to a female assembly at the Wast, and an editor thus describes the scene: "Three thousand ladies hanging on the lips of one man."

"MY DEAR," said an affectionate spouse to her husband, "am not I your only treasure?"

"Yes," was the reply, "and I would willingly lay it up in heaven."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison when it is very dangerous to use in any case with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 325 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 33 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Prices of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

Sunstroke.—Theodore Anderson, a resident of the Nineteenth ward, while on his way home from the lower part of the city, died of sunstroke near Winebiddle's grove, on the Greensburg pike.

Two Charges.—Yesterday Jas. Young made information before Alderman Taylor against Francis Landgrover, Sr., for selling liquors to minors, and Francis Landgrover, Jr., for assault. The parties reside on Sandy creek. The accused were arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

Capsized.—The watch-box at the west end of the railroad bridge over the Monongahela river, on the Panhandle road, was capsized last evening about eight o'clock. A freight train backed on the siding for the purpose of shifting a car, when the rear car jumped the track and struck the watch-box, upsetting it.

Committed for a Hearing—Martin Murphy was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman Thomas, on a charge of felonious assault and battery, and was yesterday committed to jail to await the result of injuries inflicted upon Mrs. Slatterly, whom it is alleged he cut with a knife, knocked down and kicked, inflicting serious injuries,

Attention, Boys in Blue.—The Boys in Blue in the city and vicinity are requested to meet to-morrow morning, at ten o'clock, at the office of Major George F. Morgan, No. 114 Fourth avenue, for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements for a general convention to be held here shortly, similar to that of 1866. Let the attendance be large to-morrow.

Heavy Robbery.—The boarding house of Mr. Cuthbertson on Sandusky street, Allegheny, was entered by thieves Monday night and one hundred dollars in money and two silver watches carried off, the property of the boarders. The robbery was only discovered next morning. The front door of the house, which had been locked the evening before, was found open in the morning, indicating the use of "outsiders" in performing the job.

Fatal Accident.

A shocking accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Wilkinsburg, about half past ten o'clock Monday night, resulting in the death of an unknown man. Engine No. 65, under charge of Wm. McLane, engineer, while on the way to Brinton Station to remove a wreck from the road at that point, struck and passed over a man, who was, most probably, walking on the track, as it appears he was at the Union Depot the night before, when he stated that he was going to Braddock's. He took passage on the Homewood train, and was doubtless on his way to Braddock's when killed. He was somewhat under the influence of liquor when on the train, and persisted in riding on the platform.

The engineer, on arriving at Brinton, discovered bloood on the wheels, and remarked that he feared some one had been killed, and in a few moments afterwards received a dispatch from Wilkinsburg, stating that the mutilated body of a man had been found on the track near that place. He did not see any person on the track, but it was evident that the deceased had been killed by No. 65.

Coroner Clawson was notified yesterday morning and impannelled a jury to hold an inquest.

The deceased was unknown but one witness testified that he had conversed with him at Port Perry some two weeks since, and that he told him he was a coal miner, and that he had worked for McClosky.

The jury adjourned to meet to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock at Squire Davidson's office. The deceased was apparently about twenty-eight years of age, had a dark sack coat and black felt hat. He had a bundle with him and a bevel square. The body will be brought to Devore's for interment.

Resumed Business.

A slight operation in the "confidence" line was transacted yesterday, in which Thomas Baker, of Eastern Shore, Maryland, was the victim. Baker has been in the city some days, intending to go to Quincy, Illinois, and yesterday morning, while walking up Fifth avenue, he was accosted by the "well dressed" gentleman who, after a few remarks on the weather, inquired his destination and was informed that his new acquaintance was from Quincy, Illinois, and that his business here was to procure laborers. Baker wanted work, and a contract was entered into immediately, by which it was stipulated that Baker should accompany the "well dressed" gentleman to Quincy, and when there was to receive two dollars per day. The preliminaries having been satisfactorily arranged, the stranger asked Baker to accompany him to the Monongahela wharf, and confidentially informed him that he had purchased a lot of sheep to take with him. After proceeding a few steps the stranger suddenly recollected that he needed some money to pay the balance due on the sheep. He reluctantly (?) applied to Baker, and promised to return the amount as soon as they should arrive at Quincy. Baker was pleased to accommodate him, and handed over thirty-eight dollars—all the money he had with the exception of a ten cent note. The stranger counted the money, made a memorandum of the amount, and then suddenly remembered that he wanted to see a friend doing business on the second floor of a building in Brewer's block. If Baker would wait a moment he would run up stairs, bid his friend good bye and then go to the boat. Baker consented, and the man disappeared. He waited five, ten and twenty minutes, before his suspicions were aroused. It is needless to say that the "well dressed" gentleman has not been seen since the transaction, as there never has been a confidence operator captured in this city.

CENTRAL BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Special Meeting—The High School—Report of the Committee—Education of Mutes—Report of the Finance Committee—Money to Loan.

A special meeting of the Central Board of Education was held in the High School building, corner of Wood street and Sixth avenue, yesterday, Tuesday, Aug. 24th, 1869. President Wilson in the chair.

Members present:—Messrs. George H. Anderson, Samuel Chadwick, Thomas J. Craig, James Cuddy, James A. Duncan, Adams Getty, John Harrison, George W. Humbert, P. H. Laufman, William Mays, Jacob H. Miller, Joseph Mitchell, John A. Sergeant, Thomas W. Shaw, James M. Taylor, John Wilson, President.

The Chairman stated that the meeting was a special one, called by the Committee on High School, which Committee have some important matters to lay before the Board.

THE REPORT.

Mr. G. A. Anderson, Chairman of the Committee, submitted the following report:

The situation of Teacher of Free Hand Drawing, made vacant by the resignation of Miss Agnes Way, has been filled by the election of Miss M. E. Fitzsimmons.

In the matter of furnishing instruments and surveying apparatus and additional books for the library, we have authorized the purchase of surveying and engineering instruments to the amount of $250 and $200 for books.

We fully approve of the recommendation of the Principal that an additional room be fitted up and a teacher be secured. To this end the Committee have taken especial pains to supply the above want, and would urge the Board to order the immediate fitting up of the room now occupied by the Central Board and City Superintendent for a school room and the election of Prof. J. B. Crenshaw as teacher.

In place of the room now occupied by the Board, we have examined several others and would recommend renting two rooms in Lloyd & Black's building, Fourth avenue, at a rent of $500 per annum, to be used as offices and meeting room for the Board.

Finally, we authorize the renovation of the school rooms, repairs of furniture and the supply of such new furniture as may be required the ensuing year, at an estimated cost of $125.

The report was accepted.

On motion of Mr. Mays, it was resolved to take up the items in the report and pass upon them seriatim.

Mr. Mitchell moved that portion of the report referring to the fitting up an additional room for the High school be adopted. Carried.

The matter of the election of a teacher was next taken up and Mr. Mays moved that the Board go into an election of a teacher.

The motion was adopted, and Mr. Crenshaw, Miss Wilkins and Miss McFall were nominated as candidates for the position.

Mr. Shaw offered as an amendment to the motion to go into an election that the report of the Committee be adopted. The amendment was not entertained.

A vote was then taken, which resulted in no choice.

The Chair decided that no candidate having received a majority of the votes there was no election.

Mr. Shaw then moved that Mr. Crenshaw be elected by acclamation, which motion was adopted.

The matter of selecting rooms for the accommodation of the Board and an office for the Secretary and City Superintendent was then taken up.

Mr. Creary moved that the matter be referred to the Committee on High School, in conjunction with the Secretary and City Superintendent, with power to act. Adopted.

On motion of Mr. Mays, the report was then adopted.

DECLINATION.

Mr. Craig, from the Committee on Music, presented a report accompanied by the resignation of Mr. W. B. Slack as Music Teacher, that gentleman having been elected Teacher of Music in the Allegheny city schools. The report further recommended the election of Mr. W. B. Hall, of Philadelphia, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Slack.

The report was accepted and adopted.

GYMNASTICS.

Mr. Mitchell offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Principals of the different sub-district schools be required to report to the city Superintendent, (monthly) the number of teachers who give instruction in gymnastics and drawing, and the average number of minutes given to each per day.

Mr. Lucky, City Superintendent, was called upon to give his opinion relative to gymnastics, and strongly favored their introduction into the schools.

The resolution was adopted.

THE INSTRUCTION OF MUTES.

Mr. Craig from the special Committee to whom was referred the matter of employing one or more deaf and dumb mute teachers, to instruct deaf and dumb mutes in the city, presented a report.

The Committee recommended the employing of Mr. and Miss Woodsides, the former at a salary of $600 and the latter at $400 per annum, as teachers to instruct deaf mutes, and further recommends the admission of pupils from districts outside of the city by the payment of $20 per scholar by the parents or School Boards of the respective districts.

Rev. Dr. Brown who has taken a great interest in the instruction of this unfortunate class of persons, being present was called upon to give the Board more information relative to the matter. He spoke very feelingly of the matter and had great confidence of the success of the enterprise. He also read a letter of recommendation from James Kelly, Esq., of Wilkinsburg, recommending Miss Woodside as a competent and worthy teacher.

Mr. Hunburt moved the adoption of the report of the Committee, which motion prevailed.

Mr. Craig moved that a special committee be appointed to make rules and regulations for the admission of scholars to the male school and also to procure a suitable room for the school.

The motion was withdrawn and the matter referred to the Committee on Rules and Regulations.

On motion of Mr. Humbert, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Craig were added to the Committee on Rules and Regulations.

Mr. Cuddy enquired of the Secretary what action had been taken by the Committee on High School relative to the introduction of the French and German languages in the High School.

Mr. Anderson, Chairman of the Committee, stated that the Committee had reported favorably relative to the matter, recommending the teaching of both languages, but had inadvertently omitted to embody it in their report, and asked permission to amend the report so as to embody the recommendation.

Mr. Shaw moved the the matter be laid over until the next meeting as there was not a full board present. The amendment was adopted.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

M. Mitchell stated that the crowded condition of the Central High School had been the cause of considerable complaint and he moved that a printed list of the names, ages and residents of scholars in the High School, be made for the use of the Central Board. The motion was adopted.

Mr. Humbert desired to give notice that he would offer a resolution at the next meeting, striking out the words "In said Department" in the schedul of salaries and insert, "In the Public School."

FINANCAL

Mr. Sergeant, Secretary, submitted the report of the Finance Committee as follows:

GENTLEMEN: Your Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the project of loaning a portion of the funds of the Board, would respectively report having the subject under consideration, and also having received applications from several Banking Institutions for any surplus funds which may be on hand, for a term of not less than six months.

Your Committee find that the Treasurer has on hand	$116,000
Estimated receipts for the next six months	27,000
	$143,000

EXPENDITURES:

Salaries &c. for six months at $15,000 per month	$ 90,000
Night schools, due in December	5,000
High School building as far as contracted	$20,000
Less amount paid	$1,360—$18,640
	$113,640.

The Committee report adversely to putting any portion of the money out of the immediate control of the Board.

The report was received.

Mr. Craig moved to amend the report by instructing the Finance Committee to place $50,000 of the school fund at interest.

Mr. Sergeant objected to the amount, $50,000, and suggested that it be reduced to $30,000 as before the loan would become due the Treasury would be depleted and the Board be compelled to borrow to meet their obligations. He would vote for the amendment if it was for $30,000.

Mr. Harrison called the yeas and nays on the amendment which resulted as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Craig, Duncan, Harrison, Humbert, Laufman, Mays, Mitchell, Taylor—8.

Nays—Messrs. Anderson, Cuddy, Getty, Sergeant, Shaw, Wilson—6.

So the motion was adopted.

On motion the board adjourned.

THE TEACHERS' WORK.

Second Day of the Teachers' Institute—Increasing Attendance and Interest—The Exercises, &c., &c.

The Institute re-assembled at nine o'clock yesterday morning. The exercises were opened with prayer by Mr. L. H. Eaton. The attendance was much larger than yesterday, over one hundred teachers being present.

The minutes of Monday's sessions were read and approved, after which the Institute was entertained with some excellent music.

Nominations for a Committee on Permanent Certificates being in order, the following were named: Messrs. Dean, Taggart and Greeves, and Misses Ralston, Martin and Davis. The nominations were on motion closed, to be opened again at the afternoon session.

Prof. Burtt read a paper on the Theory and Practice of Teaching, and after some remarks on the theory he explained the plan upon which he conducted the primary department of his school with great success.

A discussion on the subject then ensued, in which Messrs. Eaton, Andrews, Mortimer, McClymonds and Kelley participated.

An excercise in gymnastics, under the direction of W. G. Fox, of Cleveland, was then had, and was enjoyed to the fullest extent.

Mrs. Anna J. Randall, of Oswego, New York, who is a highly accomplished lady, read several selections in a very creditable manner. The lady gave evidence of great ability, and was greeted with the most enthusiastic approbation.

Afternoon Session

Convened at two o'clock, Prof. Eaton presiding in the absence of Superintendent Luckey.

After the usual introductory exercises, Prof. Burtt made a few remarks on "Common errors in the use of language."

Prof. W. G. Fox, of Cleveland, followed in a lecture on light gymnastics, illustrating his remarks by a class drill of an entertaining character, in which the assemblage participated. These exercises occupied about half an hour, and were succeeded by vocal music under the direction of Prof. Wm. Darling.

The roll was called and the absentees noted by the Secretary, Miss Jennie Ralston.

The following persons were then nominated as a Committee on Permanent Certificates: Messrs. Dean, Taggart, Greeves, Burtt, Eaton, Harrison, Kelly and Misses Martin, Ralston, Proudfoot, Garvin. Prof. Burtt said the next exercise on the programme was a lecture on Reading by Mrs. Anna T. Randall, but as that lady had not arrived the Institution would be entertained for a short time by Prof. Squires. Prof. Squires stated that he wished to say a few words on school discipline. He did not believe in that method which held the rod threateningly over the head of the child, and ruled by fear. That was a barbarous practice. He favored the Reward and Merit system. This appealed most strongly to the hearts of the children. All were seeking merit. It was true of adults, and much more so of the children. If a teacher but tried this for one year the effect would easily be seen in the greater improvement of the school and with very considerably less trouble.

HOW TO TEACH READING.

Mrs. Randall having by this time arrived, took the stand and occupied half an hour in illustrating her method of introducing the teaching of correct reading. The first step, she thought, was to instruct them in tones of voice, explain by theory and practice. One of the best exercises for explaining this to children was by whispered readings, frequently instructing the children to read in whispers. This gives clear and distinct utterance. What was lost in vocality would be made up in distinctness, which was one of the first requisites of good reading. Another excellent method was to get the children to repeat their own conversations They could, by this method, be made more readily to understand the difference between reading naturally and reading in an artificial tone. This method, with a little ingenuity on the part of the teacher, never would fail of success. The lady concluded her remarks by practical illustrations drawn from her own experience, and then read a short selection in an admirable manner. At the conclusion of this exercise the Institute enjoyed a recess of five minutes.

When again called to order the assemblage, led by Prof. Darling, joined in singing the first selection,

"My country 'tis of thee."

Superintendent Luckey read the resolution found elsewhere in the proceedings of the meeting of the Central Board in reference to Drawing.

TEACHING DRAWING.

Miss Grace King, of Boston, then continued her remarks on Drawing. The first principle, she said, was to insist always on perfection. This was absolutely necessary to ensure ultimate proficiency. Next insist upon correctness in the mechanical arrangements for drawing. The book should be properly placed before the pupil, the pencil held in the right position, the position of the body always kept in right angles to the line to be drawn. Allow no measurements or rulings at any time, otherwise freedom in drawing never could be obtained. The lecturer then proceeded to illustrate her system by blackboard outlines, which engaged the attention of the Institute throughout.

Mr. Burtt announced that an elocutionary entertainment, under the supervision of Mrs. Anna T. Randall, would take place on Friday evening, the exercises to be interspersed with vocal music by the Allegheny Quartette Club, who were preparing to do their "best" singing on this occasion.

Adjourned with singing, until half past seven o'clock.

Evening Session.

Convened at 7½ o'clock. The exercises were commenced by the singing of the hymn "Nearer my God to Thee," followed by a beautiful ballad rendered in fine style by the Allegheny Quartette Club, entitled "Bells by Night."

Rev. Alexander Clark was then introduced and spoke at length on the subject of "Natural Philosophy in its relations to the common affairs of life." The gentleman developed his theme in a very clear and practical manner, and at the close was greeted with applause.

"The beautiful river" was next sung by the Quartette Club, Prof. Darling presiding at the organ. Owing to the absence of Prof. W. H. Slack, Prof. Milton Watt was substituted in his place in the Club.

On motion of Mr. Harrison, a vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Alex. Clark for his eloquent lecture, which was requested for publication in the minutes.

The Institute was then entertained with several humorous and sentimental selections by the Quartette Club, which were rapturously encored.

Mr. Burtt then announced the following programme for to-day:

Morning—Arithmetic, Philotus Dean; Drawing, Grace King: Theory and Practice of Teaching, A. Burtt; Class Drill on Grammar, H. S. Jones, of Erie.

Afternoon—Geography, L. H. Eaton; Object Teaching, Mrs. Anna T. Randall; Drawing, Grace King; Gymnastics, W. G. Fox.

Evening—Lecture, Miss Martha Glass; Discussion.

Superintendent Luckey stated that Prof. Gilchrist, of the State Normal School at Washington, Pa., had telegraphed that he would be present to-day and participate in the exercises until the close of the Institute.

Adjourned until this morning at nine o'clock.

The Largest Stone.

A mammoth stone was delivered at the new City Hall building, on Smithfield street, yesterday, by Messrs. Harrison & Brothers, from their quarry at Cat Fish, Clarion county. The stone is the largest that has ever been delivered in this city, being in dimensions eight feet wide, sixteen feet long and fifteen inches in thickness, or one hundred and sixty square feet, and weighing about twelve tons. It is intended, with two others of the same size, to cover the balcony of the new City Hall, and will project about six feet from the main wall. The next largest stone in the city is that in the sidewalk at the entrance of the Monongahela House, which is 12x16 feet, and ten inches thick. It required a separate car for the transportation of each of the three stones mentioned, and then each car was loaded over its customary weight about two tons, ten tons being considered a car load.

Mysterious.

Monday evening about eight o'clock a policeman observed smoke issuing from a broken window of a house in Carson's Court, off Ohio street, Allegheny. No person was in the house at the time, and the door had to be broken open, when a bed in one of the upper chambers was found to be on fire. A few buckets of water quenched the flames before the bed had been destroyed. There seems to be a mystery connected with the affair, as the family renting the house had been absent from the city several weeks and it had been locked up. Had it not been discovered in time, a disastrous conflagration might have ensued, as the houses in the vicinity are all frame.

The Market Question.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—As Councils will meet next Monday, it may not be out of place to call their attention to the fact that the people in the upper wards are anxiously awaiting their decision in refsrence to the building of a new market house on the Lyon's lot, as recommended by the Market Committee. The matter has been under consideration for a long time, and certainly ample opportunity has been given every member of Councils to form an opinion. Of the necessity of a market building somewhere in the locality, there can be no doubt, and if the wishes and convenience of the people to be benefitted are consulted at all, the market house will be built on the spot indicated without further delay. It seems hardly necessary to dwell at length on the many advantages possessed by this site over that of others which can be procured. The cheapness at which the property is offered, and the favorable terms of the payments; the central location in the heart of the most populous section of the upper portion of the city; the size of the lot admitting of the erection of a large and first-class building; and, perhaps the strongest item in its favor, the urgent desire of the taxpayers who will be saddled with the expense to have it located there, are facts all well known to the members of Councils, and need no repetition. The subject has already been thoroughly canvassed, and can as well be settled at the next meeting of our City Fathers as though it were to be agitated for years. The citizens, therefore, who are suffering for want of more market facilities respectfully but earnestly suggest a decision and settlement of the case at the earliest possible moment. W.

A Clerical Gathering.

EDS. GAZETTE: At the request of Rev. Wm. Collier, D. D., of our town, the pastors of the Methodist churches of Pittsburgh paid him a visit on Thursday last. After a social chat, and a mutual interchange of feeling, the company was entertained with some very choice music. Miss Ellen Steer, of Georgetown, D. C., presided at the piano, and Revs. Clark, Rine, Patten, Evans and Colhouer, led the vocal part to the satisfaction of all present. At 2½ o'clock, P. M., the guests were invited to dinner—and such a one, too, as the Collier family only can prepare. Rev. Dr. Reeves was appointed master of ceremonies, and hence "all things were done decently and in order." After the sumptuous repast, the young pasters were informed of some of the hardships and trials of the early itinerant life in republican Methodism, and enjoined to revere, venerate and respect the fathers in the church, in consideration of the many hardships and privations they endured in order to establish non-Episcopal Methodism. They had circuits and stations to organize, and churches to build, and everything to do that is incidental to a new enterprise; but now it is otherwise: churches are built—and over thirty annual Conferences are organized—colleges endowed, and book concerns instituted, and every appliance necessary to success is now in possession of the church, and it is prospering numerically, financially and influentially in a glorious manner. The visit terminated at a seasonable period, all agreeing that "it was good to be there." More anon. X

The Continental.

The Continental Saloon, Fifth avenue, below the Postoffice, as conducted by the accomplished proprietor, Mr. William Holtzheimer, is deservedly one of the most popular and fashionable restaurants in the city, a fact which is made apparent from the character of its patrons, who number representatives from all the trades and professions, merchants, brokers, lawyers, doctors, mechanics and ministers. The chief reason for its popularity consists, aside from the daily fare, which is of the first order, in the neat, clean and tasteful manner in which food is prepared and placed before the patrons. This is a desideratum not found elsewhere, but which is certain to be properly appreciated, and, as in the case of the Continental, make the restaurant where it is found popular and successful. Meals are served at all hours, and our readers may call and test the Continental for themselves.

Pretty Women.—A comparatively few Ladies monopolize the Beauty as well as the attention of Society. This ought not to be so, but it is; and will be while men are foolish, and single out pretty faces for companions.

This can all be changed by using Hagan's Magnolia Balm, which gives the Bloom of Youth and a Refined sparkling Beauty to the Complexion, pleasing, powerful, and natural.

No Lady need complain of a red, tanned, freckeled or rustic Complexion who will invest 75 cents in Hagan's Magnolia Balm. Its effects are truly wonderful.

From Time Immemorial,

The poets, in describing their heroines, have never omitted to make notice of the 'gleaming ivory enclosed within her rosebud mouth,' or 'the pearly teeth, so even, small and white,' or something to the same effect. Unfortunately, all mortal heroines are not blessed with this natural acquisition to beauty. To all such we would say, if you wish a set of good, sound, substantial, lasting and beautiful teeth, go to Dr. G. W. Spencer, at his Great Steam Dental Establishment, No. 254 Penn street, Pittsburgh, and he will supply you with a full or partial set fully equal if not superior in beauty, symmetry and durability to those which Mother Nature first furnished you.

Canning Fruit.

A correspondent gives a method of closing tin cans, which he states completely obviates the usual difficulties of unsealing. Take one pound of rosin and a table spoonful of lard and melt them together, the lard rendering the rosin less brittle when cold. After filling the can with fruit, place the tin cap in position, then take a piece of strong muslin, larger than the opening in the can, smear one surface with the melted rosin, and fit smoothly and accurately over the tin cap; when cool smear the upper surface of the muslin with the rosin. The can is readily opened with the application of hot water. Glass jars, it is stated, may be sealed in the same way. The above method has been tried for several years, and it is asserted, has effectually preserved the canned fruit from the air, while allowing ready access to the contents of the vessels.

MINERAL LEMONADE.—A German scientific paper highly recommends for summer use a beverage made by taking equal parts of strong, pure sulphuric acid and strong, pure ninety-per cent. alcohol, mixing thoroughly and adding one small teaspoonful of the same to a tumbler of cold water, sweetened to taste. The beverage has long been a favorite one in the cafes of Paris, Berlin and Vienna, and is known under a somewhat pretentious title to the medical fraternity here. It is recommended above lemonade made with vegetable acids, in that it does not increase perspiration; it is borne by the stomach, and exerts no deleterious effects on the vascular system.
